T HE "Old White Sulphur Springs" of by-gone days could not have heen more brilliant than it has been for the past few days, thronged with the guests of the Westmoreland Club, and every hour filled with some charming mode of entertainment. An informal hop took place in the ball room almost immediately after the arrival of the Ricamond party Saturday night, but the event of the entire stay was the german given on Monday evening in the beautiful old bail room of the White, compilmentary to the Westmoreland members and their guests.

Scarlet and white flowers festooned the doorways, and an immense silk American ling was arranged back of the stage, where the orchestra, screened by palms, was seated. Supper was served at midnight in the cafe, and the guests were seated at small tables lighted with crimson candles and banked with red and white flowers.

MAY RUN AS INDEPENDENT.

W. A. Simpkins Mentioned as Candidate for Senate in Wake County. Raleigh, N. C., July 5.—The latest political development in Wake county is a report pretty generally circulated to the effect that W. A. Simpkins is to run as an independent for the State Senate, against Dr. E. W. Sikes, who was nominated in the sensational Democratic primary in which the "insurent" faction of the party defeated the regulars. Mr. Simpkins has not confirmed the report. He is a Primitive Baptist minister, and extensive farmer. He has been an independent Democratic veter for a number of years, and side not go into the recent primary. The primaries. He has been an independent Democratic voter for a number of years, and add not go into the recent primaries. There has been talk that the Republicans would induce E. C. Duncan, national committeeman, to stand for the Senate, but he says that he cannot consider such a thing. Since his retirement from the Scaboard Air Line receivership, he has been devoting his attention to quite a successful banking business here. It is probable that if Simpkins makes the race independently he will receive the Republican as well as the "estranged" Democratic vote.

Fully 2,000 people attended the good roads celebration at Casco on Monday. Baseball games, tournaments and dancing were enjoyed, speeches were heard and one of the most pleasing features of the day was a barbecue. E. C. Pelouze, vice-president of the Richmond Automobile Association, spoke earnestly for improved high-ways and pledged the moral support of the association. Enthusiam ran high and there has come to be a gen eral understading among the people of the community that the roads from Casco to Richmond, and from Casco to Louisa will be built regardless of the attitude of the supervisors. The roads in that sectiond have been wonderfully improved of late, due largely to the efforts of a number of citizens who have not only raised money, but who have given their teams and their time to the work. That the good reads movement will prove a success in Casco there can be no doubt, for interest is high and even the women interest is high and even the women are taking part in the campaign.

Mr. Pelouze was the only Richmonder who braved the roads to attend the celebration, other members of the association who had signified an intention to attend, being turned back after they had made a start by the storm. Experience gained while a prize-winning contestant in The Times-Dispatch endurance run proved invaluable to Mr. Pelouze in making the trip to Casco. He stated that the roads were in worse condition that any he had encountered either on the Virginia or Carolina runs. When Mr. Pelouze reached Richmond on the return his machine was hardly distinguishable for the mud.

PRITCHARD ADVISES FARM LIFE FOR NEGROES

trial Education for Members

United States Judge Advocates Industrial Education for Members of Race.

Durham, N. C., July 5.—Advocating the industrial education of the negro in the belief it would prove of infinite value to the morals of the colored race and the return of the negro to the farm as a solution largely of the question of the present high cost of living. United States Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Asheville, N. C., made the opening address of the summer course of the National Religious Training School and Chautauqua for the colored race here to-day. Stating that this school filled a much-needed want, Judge Pritchard declared that the colored man was essentially the leader of his people might most affectively be reached. Only full justice here and elsewhere, he said, could be done the near by remembering that he had come fresh from slavery, where dependence upon masters had rendered him ambitionless without education or property. "The colored man is a citizen of the country," he continued, "and while he enjoys all the rights and immunities of citizenship, he must rely upon himself if he would accomplish the best things in our citizenship. I am thankful to say that there has never been a time since emancipation when a majority of the white people of the South were not friendly to the negro, so far as his welfare as a citizen is concerned."

Judge Pritchard advised the celored people to seek the farms, where, he Judge Pritchard advised the colored Judge Pritchard advised the content people to seek the farms, where, he said, one found less racial antaemonism in the riral districts. His confident belief was that no class of man was being better treated than the farmers, and he declared if they would go back to the farm they would eliminate much of the criminal element that cursed the entire race.
